CALL FOR PROJECT PROPOSALS (#2)

“Protecting and promoting EU rights and values”

The Bodossaki Foundation, in consortium with the NGO Support Centre announces the second open call for Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) project proposals in Greece and the Republic of Cyprus for funding under the “BUILD- Building a robust and democratic civic space” project which is co-funded by the European Union (Citizens, Equality, Rights and Values). The aim of the BUILD project is to protect, promote and raise awareness of EU rights & values by financially supporting Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) in Greece and the Republic of Cyprus.

The total amount allocated through this call is €1.172.222 (€950.000 for Greece and €222.222 for the Republic of Cyprus).

The objective of the 2nd call “Protecting and Promoting EU rights and values” is to protect, promote and advocate EU rights and values as enshrined in the European Treaties and the European Union’s Charter of Fundamental Rights.

The European Union (EU) values and rights refer to the core principles and legal protections that underpin the functioning of the EU and the rights and freedoms of its citizens. These values and rights are enshrined in the EU's founding treaties, including the Treaty on European Union \(TEU\), the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights \(the Charter\) as well as in secondary legislation and case law.

The EU values include respect for human dignity, freedom, democracy, equality, including gender equality, the rule of law and respect for human rights, including the rights of people belonging to minorities. These fundamental shared values are seen by its citizens as one of the EU's greatest strengths and achievements¹. Yet across the Union, they are under threat, including from democratic backsliding, political extremism, democratic deficit, civic apathy, persistent inequalities, social exclusion, and rights violations, particularly of vulnerable groups.

These challenges are a reminder that Union values cannot be taken for granted and that promoting and defending them is a shared responsibility for all: institutions, Member States and above all its citizens. Protecting EU values implies a whole society approach. Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) play an essential role in enabling citizens' involvement in protecting, promoting EU values and rights by holding governments and EU institutions accountable, advocating for policy change and building public awareness and support.

Within this wider EU context, Greece and the Republic of Cyprus, apart from sharing a common language, geographic proximity, and cultural and historical heritage, also face some specific additional social challenges that highlight the need for effective CSOs active in promoting EU rights and values. These include high levels of poverty and social exclusion, poor performance on gender equality indicators, high levels of discrimination particularly against different vulnerable groups, and high numbers of refugees and migrant arrivals.

Objectives and indicative activities

The call is intended to fund initiatives that focus on the following expected results:

- Empowerment of vulnerable groups on issues relating to the protection of EU rights and values.
- Strengthening the advocacy and watchdog role of CSOs. Supporting CSOs in their efforts to advocate for EU rights and values and act as watchdogs to hold institutions accountable.
- Increase involvement of CSOs in policy and decision-making processes with local, regional and national governments
- Support CSOs learning and exchange with CSOs in other EU Member States, aiming at the promotion of the objectives of the call.

The aforementioned objective shall be achieved only through the following fixed project activities:

- Provision of support services to vulnerable groups, aiming at empowering them and informing them about their rights.
- Lobbying/advocacy activities to influence policy and decision-making processes, including revision/updating/adoption of EU policies pertaining to rights and values under the EU Treaties and Charter.
- Activities aiming to increase the watchdog role of CSOs, particularly in relation to the effective implementation of EU policies, rights, and values such as policy analysis of relevant national policies and laws, research to identify key issues and feed advocacy initiatives etc.
- Exchange of best practices, knowledge, and expertise with CSOs in other EU Member States, development of working and learning methods and tools that may be transferable and which promote the fundamental shared values of the EU such as the organization of webinars, physical or virtual events, study visits and exchanges between CSOs, development of online platforms and networks for CSOs to connect and share information and resources.

The supporting documents include financial and legal documentation and the declaration of honor (a detailed list of the supporting documents can be found in Section 7 of the 'Guidelines for Applicants').

The appeal is considered by the Appeals Committee and applicants are informed within ten (10) working days. The decision on the appeal is irrevocable.

The project application and the budget are not considered as supporting documents but as core documents and thus in cases of missing project application and budget documents, the applicants will not be requested to send them, and their applications will be rejected.

All scorers (internal and external) will be obliged to sign a no-conflict of interest declaration with regards to the applicants, whose applications they will be requested to score.

An additional due diligence will be conducted by the Project Management Team to detect a risk of conflict of interest. In case any conflict arises, the Project Management Team will report it to the Steering Committee and the Consortium will take measures to protect the integrity of the selection process (e.g., excluding affected individuals from process, allocating alternative individuals where necessary).

The experts shall separately and independently score the project proposal according to the Evaluation Criteria published below. For the evaluation of proposals, the average score of the two scorers will be considered. To further examine the application, a minimum average score of 60 points of the total mark is required.

If the difference between the scores is greater than 30%, the application shall be scored by a third independent expert. This expert shall be commissioned by, and be independent of, the Consortium members.

In such cases the average score of the two closest scores shall be used for the ranking of the project applications. Applications that receive a minimum score of 60 points are ranked according to their score, without any change in the rank order. A shortlist of the ranked applications and an additional at least 10% of the ranked applications will be formed and forwarded to the Legal Unit for the eligibility of applicant and partner (if applicable) check.

In phase two, each project application will be checked to comply with the eligibility criteria regarding the eligibility of applicant and partner (if applicable).

Candidates whose applications are rejected in phase two for not complying with the eligibility of applicant and partner (if applicable) criteria are informed directly via email and have the right to appeal within five (5) working days. The right of appeal may be exercised only once at this phase.

The appeal must be fully justified and submitted electronically via email to the email address of the Project Officer responsible for the call, no later than 18:00' (EET), on the 5th day – last day of the deadline.
